"£2,000,000 WORTH OF BOOTY"—CHIEFLY ASHES: THE WONDERS
OF THE GALLIPOLI EVACUATION.

Stores and other goods burning. This photograph was taken from H.M.S. Cornwallis, the last ship to leave Suvla Bay.

Towing guns and men on a raft. The operation was carried out in broad daylight.

Everyone now knows that the evacuation of Gallipoli was a military masterpiece, but these official photographs from Suvla will help people to realise better what was accomplished. That men and guns could be calmly towed away in broad daylight un-detected by either the Turks or their German leaders sounds almost incredible, and yet it was done, as the camera proves. The Turk, however, claims that the booty amounted to a trifle of £2,000,000. Ashes must be valuable in Constantinople.

"It is true that I have discovered a new method by which I reduced my weight 36 pounds in five weeks," said Miss Winifred
Grace Hartland, when questioned by a reporter.
Although Miss Hartland is not very young, her appearance is that of a girl of 20, for her
For several years I was troubled with horrible fatness and my appearance was so bad that I shed a good many tears, I can assure you," she continued. "But after spending a great deal of money, I discovered a simple, harmless way to reduce my weight, and my double chin and fat hips soon disappeared."
"You may say in your paper that because I know how much suffering and embarrassment fatness causes, I will give to each one of your readers who is interested a copy of my book,

'Weight Reduction Without Drugs.'"
"What is the price of the book?" asked the reporter.
"It is absolutely free," said Miss Hartland, whose desk was covered with grateful letters from men and women who have once again a slender and youthful appearance.
"All I ask is that two penny stamps be enclosed to pay postage," she concluded. Readers may have this book free by addressing letters

COOKING WITH ONE HAND: A NEW CAREER FOR THE DISABLED SOLDIER.

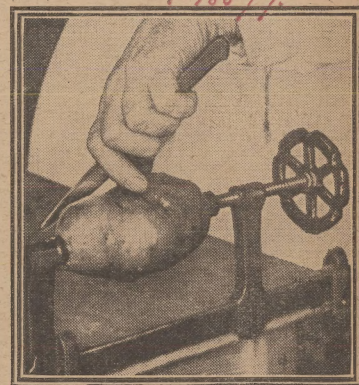

Mr. Lawton cooks with his right arm bound up.

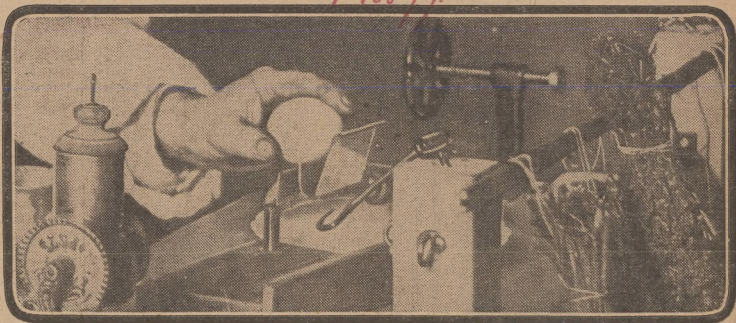

There is no reason why a soldier with only one arm and both legs missing should not make a living as a cook. This was demonstrated in the rooms of the Society of Medical Officers of Health by Mr. William Lawton, the secretary, who prepared a QUESTION SNIPING AT QUAKERS' HALL.

Speaker Subjected to a Running Fire of Criticism.

STORMS OF CHEERS.

The luncheon hour gathering of the Quakers yesterday at their meeting house in Bishopsgate was not quite so noisy as some of its predecessors, but nevertheless it was made very uncomfortable for its promoters.

At the outset a protest was made against the omission of some of the Quakers to stand during the singing of the National Anthem last week.

It was decided to test them, the threat being made that any man not standing would be compelled to stand. All, however, stood when a verse was sung.

Mr. Edward Grubb was to speak on the "Supremacy of Conscience," and an appeal for fair play made by member of the audience was seconded by Mr. T. Deekes.

"Give the speaker a chance," he said. "We will take the consequences. As long as a Briton does not misconduct himself as a Briton he has a right to speak."

A resolution that no peace should be made until Germany was crushed and that every alien enemy should be interned at once was declared to be carried unanimously.

Mr. Grubb then rose to speak. He was subjected throughout his address to a running fire of interruptions and criticisms by Mr. T. R. Glover, of the Anti-German Union.

The speaker opened his remarks with a reference to Lord Roberts. Immediately Mr. T. W.

Corporal Bassett, New Zealand's first V.C. shows his decoration to an officer and some of his comrades.

Hayes jumped up and called for "Three cheers for Lord Roberts!"

Mr. Grubb said it had been contended that to talk about conscience as the voice of God was a mere superstition. There was in everybody, without exception, some sense of the difference between right and wrong.

A confused babel of tongues put Mr. Grubb to silence. Rising above the clamour could be heard the voice of a man who was shouting, "Are we right or wrong in this war?"

The next moment another man had risen in his seat: "Is Mr. Grubb in favour of this war or against it?" he shouted. "I want to know whether he believes that we should fight to the last man and the last shilling and save the honour of our women and children."

Then a woman intervened. "At a time like this," she said, "when we are fighting this dreadful war, it would be advisable for the Quakers to keep quiet."

There was a storm of cheering.

Mr. Grubb, continuing, got no farther than saying that the early Christians believed war to be wrong, when there was another torrent of protest.

At the conclusion Mr. Lindsay Johnson moved the resolution that no further meetings should be allowed to be held, and it was carried amid a storm of cheering.

COAL CONTROL SCHEME APPROVED.

Great interest is being aroused in the Government's scheme to safeguard the coal supply of London and other big centres and to ensure an adequate supply at reasonable prices.

Mr. John H. Cleland, of Messrs. Brentnall and Cleland, the well-known coal merchants, approves the Board of Trade's scheme of district committees.

"The unusual attraction in the way of high prices for export," he said, "undoubtedly acts to the detriment of large centres like London unless some control is exercised."

"We assume that the idea of the committee is to safeguard the interests of London and other great coal-consuming centres, and that they will make it their duty to watch the distribution from the collieries, so that increased prices in other directions may not deflect the normal supplies."

A TENANT'S RIGHT.

Judge Prevents Landlord Turning Him Out of His House.

FIRST CASE UNDER NEW ACT.

The first case under the new Rent Restrictions Act was heard yesterday at the West London County Court.

The landlord, Mr. Chasemore, of New King's Road, Fulham, who claimed possession of a house of which the tenant was John Eagle, said that he had given notice to the defendant because he wanted to live at the house himself in order to do it up. He had only had the house for eighteen months.

Defendant had always paid his rent regularly, but the house was nearly tumbling down and one of the ceilings was coming down.

Mr. Schultess Young (for the defence): And yet defendant paid his rent?—Yes.

Has he not offered you every facility to go in and do the house up?—Yes, but I cannot go when he is sleeping there.

The Judge: What do you want this house for?—To go and live in myself. We have not got enough room.

Has your house sufficient accommodation for you at the moment?—No, I have a niece and her son coming to stay with me, and I want one more room.

Mr. Schultess Young argued that the Act was intended to prevent landlords from either raising the rent or getting rid of a tenant for any purpose except those contemplated by the Act. Plaintiff wanted to increase his accommodation in order to take another lodger.

The Judge said he was not satisfied that these premises were reasonably required by the landlord. The houses had precisely the same accommodation, and if there were no lodgers in plaintiff's house there would be ample accommodation for plaintiff and his family.

His Honour added that he was going to adjourn the case generally with the declaration that the tenant was entitled to remain in possession of the house so long as he pays his rent. Defendant would be allowed his costs.

A RECTOR'S BETS.

Story of Winnings on Horses Told in Commission Agent's Claim.

The Gaming Act was pleaded in Mr. Justice Bidley's court yesterday by the Rev. Sydney Richard Rimmer, rector of Morcott, Uppingham, who was sued by Mr. A. E. Aston, of Harrogate, for £115 18s., money said to be due in connection with a betting transaction.

Mr. Rowland Harker, for the plaintiff, said his client was a commission agent and for many years he and the rector had had betting transactions, in the course of which the rector had met with considerable good fortune and had received a good amount.

He owed, said counsel, £115 18s., and persisted in pleading the Gaming Act. That being so, it was useless for counsel to waste the time of the Court in the matter.

Mr. Justice Bidley: Why do you say persist? He has a perfect right to do it.

Mr. Harker: I quite appreciate that, but it does sometimes happen that the defence is withdrawn.

Mr. Justice Bidley: Was it horse racing?—Yes, and on an extensive scale.

Mr. Justice Bidley: A dreadful thing.

Mr. Harker: He seems to have had great luck. Judgment was entered for the defendant.

APPEAL CASE IN SECRET.

A full Court of Criminal Appeal, consisting of the Lord Chief Justice and Justices Lawrence, Ridley, Sankey and Low, sat in camera yesterday when what appeared in the list as "One application for leave to appeal."

The glass doors of the court were covered with white paper and only counsel concerned in the case were allowed admission.

MORE AIR CHANGES.

Sir Percy Scott to Give Up Command of London's Gunners Defences.

COMING DEBATE IN COMMONS.

Sir Percy Scott, The Times understands, will relinquish his command of the gunners defences of London at the end of this week.

A debate of very considerable interest and importance will take place in the House of Commons as soon as Parliament reassembles next week in regard to the aerial defences of the metropolis, and more particularly as to the changes announced yesterday in the supreme control of gunners defences.

More than one specific amendment to the Address will be placed on the paper, and an important speech may be expected from the First Lord of the Admiralty.

Many members have expressed their intention of taking part in the debate, and, in view of this and the variety of other topics which will be ventilated in the opening stage of the new session, it would not be surprising if the debate on the Address were not concluded until the end of the week.

A music-hall vocalist, Ellen Frost, of Shaftesbury-avenue, London, was remanded by Midland magistrates yesterday on a charge of communicating information which might be of value to the enemy.

Defendant had written her agent regarding the recent air raid, but any wrong purpose was denied. She has been released on bail.

SLACKERS EVER.

Single Men Still Hang Back, and Will Be Put in Conscript Classes.

The second Derby campaign has not roped in all the single slackers.

That was the evidence given yesterday at a Downing-street meeting of the Parliamentary and Labour Recruiting Committees, when reports on the second Derby campaign were received.

While the reports show that a fair percentage of untested men are willing to avail themselves of the opportunity to attest, it is now clear that the Prime Minister's wish that the single men, by their action, should make the Compulsion Act "a dead letter" will not now be realised.

Indeed, it is expected that unless an eleventh-hour rush takes place at the end of this month the great majority of the men untested when the original campaign closed will still be outside the Army fold and within the scope of the new Act.

SLINGSBY CASE ENDS.

Judgment was reserved yesterday by the Court of Appeal in the Slingsby baby case.

In the course of Mr. Schiller's final speech for the child the Master of the Rolls remarked that he thought Mrs. Slingsby was a very clever woman.

Mr. Gover (for the appellants) said that Mr. Justice Baggave Deane was obsessed very early in the trial with the resemblance of the child to its alleged parents, and the obsession was confirmed by what Sir George Frampton told or reported to him.

KAISER GUARDED IN BERLIN!

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 7.—Advices from Germany state that the most severe measures have been taken in Berlin to prevent any repetition of the recent series of riots.

A Dutchman who was in Berlin just after the Emperor's recovery from his illness says the Kaiser passed through the streets in a motor-car, and following close behind were two more cars occupied by soldiers with loaded rifles ready in their hands.—Central News.

GIRLS' LUNCHEONS IN WAR-TIME.

Business Woman's Suggestion for Cheap Meal Costing 5½d.

"GETTING WISER."

Now that economy is the order of the day it may be necessary to overhaul the war luncheon.

Does the average City business girl—typist or clerk—spend too much upon her luncheon? Before the war there could have been but one answer to that question.

Then the City girl lunched neither wisely nor well. Her midday meal usually consisted of a large assortment of sticky and unwholesome pastries, washed down by a glass of milk. Desert often followed in the form of mixed chocolates.

Women are getting wiser now. That, at least, was the dictum of a young business woman The Daily Mirror consulted on the subject.

"I haven't very much faith in the meagre meal theory," said she. "If you've got a whole afternoon's work before you, you want something to keep you going."

"I'll tell you what I had for luncheon yesterday—Shepherd's pie, a slice of home-made cake and a cup of tea. And the whole lot came to one and a penny—not dear, was it?"

"No, but not very cheap! Couldn't it be done for less?"

"I suppose you want me to recommend an ideal cheap luncheon. Well, here it is:—

Piece of chocolate	1d.
Piece of cake	1d.
Glass of milk	1½d.
Total	5½d.

"I have noticed that girls are eating porridge a lot just now. Things like Cambridge sausages and fish rissoles seem to be in great demand, and sweets have gone down with a run."

"A good thing, too! They're very bad for people. Don't you think so?"

The manager of a restaurant in the City much used by business women said:—

"The war has produced a great reform in the luncheons of business women. The demand now is for substantial, nourishing foods. Girls no longer seem content to make a luncheon consisting of light pastries, ices and milk."

'ROSE RESTAURANT' FOR WOMEN.

That the Church Army intends the young business women of Edgware-road to see their world "couleur de rose" is evident by the furnishings of their new "Rose Restaurant" for women.

This charming pink and white haven of rest is being opened to-day at No. 126, Edgware-road for the benefit of the numberless women workers who have appeared in that district since the war—insurance clerks, bank clerks, tailresses and typists.

For sixpence a girl clerk can have a luncheon of soup, meat, vegetables, pudding and bread in a charming room curtained in rose cretonne, with roses rioting over the grey walls, the dainty china, the glass-covered trays.

INCREASE IN BRITISH EXPORTS.

British exports increased by £8,508,575 during last month, as compared with January last year. Total exports, which include foreign and Colonial, were greater by £10,444,282, whilst imports were increased by £7,701,850.

The figures, as shown in the Board of Trade returns for last month, are £74,988,241, as against £70,938,394 in December and £67,246,391 in January, 1915.

Total exports were £45,587,399, as against £35,145,057 a year ago, and British exports show £36,757,167, compared with £28,247,592 in January, 1915.

EARLIER CHURCH SERVICES.

As the result of a conference between the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, the Head Constable, the Bishop of Liverpool and the Rev. T. R. Dann, Nonconformist minister, the clergy and ministers of all denominations are to be recommended to arrange that all evening services shall conclude by 6.30.

GERMANS TELL OF "FIERCE ARTILLERY BATTLES" IN THE WEST

Prelude to Another Bid by Kaiser for Calais.

"SHELLING OF LENS."

No Zeppelin Bombs Dropped on the British Cruiser Caroline.

VON PAPEN'S SECRETS.

PRELUDE FOR CALAIS.

Who were the first to attack on the Western front—the Allies or the Germans?

It is an interesting question, but the fog of war prevents any answer for the time being. One thing is clear—the attack is now in progress.

Between La Bassee and Arras heavy artillery fighting is taking place. The Germans realise as bitterly to-day as eighteen months ago that the British line blocks their way to the sea. Happily, it is no longer a "thin red line."

TO FOOL NEUTRALS.

With commendable promptitude the Government has contradicted a German lie issued by means of wireless and intended for neutral consumption.

The Germans alleged that during the last Zeppelin raid they bombed H.M.S. Caroline, and that the ship went down with "great loss of life."

Neither the Caroline nor any other ship has been hit.

Fire broke out early yesterday on the boarding steamer H.M.S. Peel Castle, and tugs and other ships went to her assistance. All the crew got away in their boats.

VON PAPER'S PAPERS.

"The people are really so stupid!" Such is a reference to Americans in a letter from Prince Hatzfeld to Captain von Papen, the ex-German military attaché.

A selection of the documents found in his possession at Falmouth, January 2 and 3, 1916, were issued by the Government in the form of a White-paper last night. They throw a lurid light on German activities in America.

Facsimiles of cheques and counterfoils are given. One cheque is for £100 for the German Consulate at Seattle, dated May 11, for Schulenberg. A dynamite explosion took place in Seattle Harbour on May 30, 1915.

ADMIRALTY SHIP ON FIRE OFF DOVER.

Crew Get Safely Away—Lifeboatmen's Ordeal.

(BRITISH OFFICIAL.)

PRESS BUREAU, Feb. 7.—The Secretary of the Admiralty makes the following announcement: "Fire broke out this morning on board H.M. boarding steamer Peel Castle, in the Straits of Dover."

"Tugs from Dover and other craft assisted in fighting the fire. No loss of life took place." Reports from Dover state that the fire broke out at 2.30 a.m. The flames shot up in the air a considerable distance, casting a glare over the surrounding shipping and the shore.

The Deal lifeboat was got out, but, after the firemen had been nearly suffocated by the smoke, it was found that six of the burning ship's boats had been got out with the whole of her crew.

The Dover Harbour tugs pumped water into the blazing ship. The Peel Castle is a ship of 1,474 tons gross, and before the war was in the service of the Isle of Man Steam Packet Company, Limited.

SERBS REPULSE FOE.

GERMANS EXPECT A BIG FRENCH OFFENSIVE.

Foe's New Guns and Plan for Bigger Gas Attacks.

CHARLOTTENLUND, Feb. 7.—The Vossische Zeitung states that the German General Staff expect a great French offensive in the near future.

Both French and British army corps have been exhibiting great energy lately.—Exchange.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 7.—A usually well-informed neutral journalist, who has just returned from Germany, has given your correspondent further interesting details in regard to the German preparations for an early offensive in the west.

He declares that the Germans have introduced a number of improvements in their artillery—to such an extent, indeed, that troops withdrawn from the Balkan front for service in the west are required to undergo a fortnight's special training to make them acquainted with the artillery changes.

In addition, the Germans have devised new apparatus for the use of gas on a more extensive scale than has hitherto been possible, and it is generally believed that the offensive will start as soon as the wind settles in the east.—Central News.

(GERMAN OFFICIAL.)

German Main Headquarters reported yesterday afternoon as follows:—

Western theatre of war—There were fierce artillery battles between the La Bassee Canal and Arras, as well as to the south of the Somme.

The city of Lens was again violently bombarded by the enemy artillery during the last few days.

In Argonne the French blew up and occupied a crater on Hill 285, to the north-east of La Chalade. They were, however, driven out again immediately by a counter-attack.

Eastern theatre of war—A Russian field post on the eastern bank of the Baranovitch-Lachowitsch Railway, which we captured on the night of February 6, was attacked without success. The enemy was forced to retreat, incurring considerable losses.

To the south-west of Widzy a Russian aeroplane, whose pilot had lost his way, fell into our hands in an undamaged condition.—Wireless Press.

(FRENCH OFFICIAL.)

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The following official communiqué was issued this afternoon:—

There was no event of importance to report in the course of the night.

There was an error in the 11 p.m. communiqué of Sunday. It should read: "To the east of Soissons we cannonaded the enemy's works opposite the plateau of Chassemy."

STORY OF POPE'S OFFER REGARDING BELGIUM.

Entente Powers Firmly but Courteously Decline the Suggestion.

ROME, Feb. 7.—According to information derived from a most authoritative source the Pope recently proposed to the Entente Powers that he should open negotiations with Germany with a view to arranging conditions for the restoration of Belgium.

The Entente Powers, while expressing their appreciation of this offer, courteously, but firmly, declined it, explaining that no such step was desired by them until Germany had been defeated.

It is believed here that the whole scheme was engineered by Germany, who hoped through it to initiate a discussion of peace terms generally, and this effort is regarded as further proof that Germany has greater need of peace than the Allies—a need which will necessarily become more and more imperative as time goes on.—Reuter.

There have been serious floods in Germany, and this photograph was taken in an area where large tracts are under water.

DENIAL OF AN AIRY FAIRY TALE OF LOST CRUISER.

Foe Fantasy of H.M.S. Caroline 'Zepped' and Sunk in Humber.

(BRITISH OFFICIAL.)

PRESS BUREAU, Feb. 7.—The Secretary of the Admiralty makes the following announcement:—

In the German wireless message to-day the Koelnische Zeitung reports that from the Dutch frontier it has received information that on the occasion of the recent air raid to this country H.M.S. Caroline was struck by a bomb in the Humber and sunk with great loss of life.

"Neither H.M.S. Caroline nor any other of his Majesty's ships, nor any merchant ship, large or small, was struck by a bomb in the Humber nor in any other port."

The German wireless news, picked up by the Wireless Press says:—

The Koelnische Zeitung (Cologne Gazette) reports from the Dutch frontier that during the last air raid on England the small English cruiser Caroline was struck by a bomb in the Humber and sank with great loss of life.

The cruiser was launched on September 21, 1914, had a tonnage of 3,500, could steam thirty knots per hour and had a crew all told of 400.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 7.—The Elsinore Journal, Helsingør Avis, says that persistent and well-founded reports are current that a large German warship has gone down near Fladen Grund, in the Kattegat, between the Island of Anholt and Sweden.

KIEL AIR WARNINGS.

It is stated that the wireless apparatus and other wreckage have been washed up on the coast of Sweden.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 7.—The Kiel authorities publish in the local papers a warning to the inhabitants not to behave during any aerial attacks that may be made on the town as the Parisians did during the last Zeppelin raid on the French capital, but to profit by their mistakes.

The warning says: "French newspaper reports regarding the Paris raid clearly demonstrate the fact that the inhabitants acted fully contrary to the directions issued by the authorities."

Actuated by genuine Gallic curiosity and craving for sensation, they crowded into the streets after the Zeppelin had been sighted, thus unnecessarily increasing the number of casualties.—Reuter.

SECOND ESCAPE FAILS.

GENEVA, Feb. 7.—The two French airmen who tried to escape from Switzerland, where they were interned, were Lieutenants Paris and Gilbert.

They came from Zurich to Geneva, where they boarded a train containing disabled French prisoners from Germany.

Warning however, had already been sent from Zurich, and the airmen were recognised at Olten and arrested. They have been brought back to the internment camp.—Central News.

Gilbert escaped in August from Andermatt, disguised as a woman, and got to Paris; but the French Government sent him back to Switzerland. His internment dates from the great raid on the Zeppelin sheds at Friedrichshafen on June 27, when he was obliged to descend on Swiss soil, his engine playing him false.

U.S.A. WITHDRAWING.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The Washington correspondent of the Associated Press telegraphs that:—

Administration officials state that the "mere choice of words will not be permitted to stand in the way of the success of the Lusitania negotiations, and that the United States will not insist on the use of the words 'illegal' or 'disavowal'."

The Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, after a conference with Cabinet officials, said that his impression was that the Lusitania case was "practically settled."

SECRETS OF PAPERS OF VON PAPER.

Prince Hatzfeld Says "People Are Really So Stupid."

CHEQUES FOR OUTRAGES.

Very piquant reading are the von Papen papers, a selection from which was issued yesterday by the Government in an unusually interesting White-paper.

Captain von Papen was the late German military attaché at Washington, and these papers were discovered in his possession when the ship which was taking him home to Germany arrived at Falmouth.

Not only is the correspondence itself startling—for it contains the frank opinions of Berlin on American affairs—but there is ample proof furnished of how the Germans subsidised outrages.

Reproductions of twenty cheques are given in an appendix to these papers. Each one of these cheques represented payment made either to a spy like Kuenferle or to men connected with attempts to blow up railway bridges and munition works.

Particularly interesting is a cheque for 200dols. (£40) payable to a named Budgeman Taylor. This person—whose real name is Von der Goltz—came over to England to offer himself for work under the British Government.

It is satisfactory to know that Mr. Taylor "is now in England."

'BY SECTION III'S ORDER!'

A letter from R. Mimmel, the Disconto Gesellschaft, Potsdam branch, to Captain von Papen, dated July 25, 1914, bearing the postmark 23-7-14, 7 p.m., has this very significant postscript:—

"We have never before seen such preparations for war as are being made at present. German Government stocks fell to-day 1 per cent."

It was not until August 1 that Germany was at war, and then against Russia.

Under date September 29, 1914, there is a letter to the captain from "Filipino," who calls him "My dear Agagardo Militar," and it is addressed from "Aching Great General Staff, Section IIIb, Political Section, Berlin." He says:—

"Herewith I send you (by order of Section IIIb) a few articles which have been passed for publication in all home and foreign papers. You will please arrange for them to have wide publicity. These articles will show you how one can become celebrated in a short time."

"PRO-FORMA, OF COURSE."

"The war news of which you receive in America, in spite of all our efforts, will prove meagre and not in accordance with the truth. At first things went on at a giant's pace; at present, however, there is a hitch; but I hope that by the time you receive these few lines this will have been overcome."

The Austrians are fighting well, but their leadership is bad; they had to retreat as far as the Carpathians. The reaction on the Balkans and Italy's attitude correspondingly bad; but we—i.e., our troops—will pull the matter through all right.

When Lieutenant-Colonel H. Herwarth wrote to me from Berlin on March 10, 1915, he strongly advised the captain to see "Langhorne; of course you know he is returning."

[Major Langhorne was United States Military Attaché in Berlin at the outbreak of war.]

In the same letter the lieutenant-colonel adds:—

"The bearer of this letter, Mr. Lyell Fox, can give you news of Berlin. He is reliable and understands how shamefully dependent on England the United States have become. Pro forma, of course, he is neutral."

[Mr. Edward Lyell Fox is understood to be "vice-president and general manager" of Wildman's Magazine and News Service.]

In a letter dated March 22 the lieutenant-colonel says: "I hope that you and Boy-Ed have received all my letters, which I forwarded to you through Langhorne and Fox."

"PEOPLE ARE SO STUPID."

"Dear Papen," says Prince H. Hatzfeld, in a letter from Washington to Von Papen, "my wife writes me that Bulgaria will certainly come in on our side after the harvest at the end of August, and she is certain that Rumania will remain inactive."

"I telephoned to-day to Albert. The Ambassador, in my opinion, should, nevertheless, issue a statement to enlighten the native Americans and the pro-Germans, and to lead their thoughts into the right channels. The people are really so stupid."

Here is a letter from Captain Boy-Ed to Captain von Papen:—

"Dear Papen,—A secret agent, who returned from Washington this evening, made the following statement:—

"The Washington people are very excited about Von Papen and are having a constant watch kept on him. They are in possession of a whole heap of incriminating evidence against him."

"They have no evidence against Count B. and Captain B.-E. (h)!"

YOU CAN PLAY THE PIANO TO-DAY

By Naunton's National Music System.

IT makes no difference whether you have had previous lessons or not, whether you are 80 years of age or only 8, we guarantee that you can play the piano to-day by this wonderful and simple system. There are no sharps, flats, or theoretical difficulties to worry you, and no tiresome or wearisome exercises or scales to be learnt. You play correctly with both hands at once. No difficulty or drudgery whatever.

Failure is Impossible.

"You cannot fail." All you have to do is to sit down to the piano with your music and play it at once—Hymns, Dance-music, Songs, Classics, anything.

OVER 50,000 people are playing by it, and are playing perfectly
If they can do it, so can you.

If you are one of the thousands who have tried and failed, have given up learning by the old methods owing to the difficulties, or if you are afraid to begin because of the drudgery, let us tell you all about this wonderful, simple, rapid and perfect Naunton National Music System, which is a real educator. The word "educator" means "to lead out" or "to draw out." It does not mean "to cram in." Our system draws out the musical powers of our students from the very first lesson. Take advantage of the offer we make on the coupon below, and by return of post you will receive five tunes, which we guarantee you can play; thus you can prove for yourself the simplicity of our system and the accuracy of our statements. This small outlay will open up the delights of the vast realm of music to you and give you many years of purest pleasure.

No one need ever say again, "I wish I could play"; everyone can do it to-day.

READ WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING.

From a Composer: "I think it A1, easy, excellent. Any person could understand it."

This from a Pupil who has taken nine lessons out of the fifty which comprise the whole system: "I had tried to learn under many masters for about nine years, but at last had to give it up. I can read and play by your system easily."

This from a Pupil who has taken only six lessons: "I can play well, and am teaching two of my friends."

From a Musician who has composed over 3,000 popular songs: "I consider it the most ingenious invention in connection with music I have ever seen."

From a Proud Mother: "Florrie can play splendidly, and I can play also. Your system is certainly splendid, and is just as easy as you say."

From a Pupil who thinks that one good turn deserves another: "I am recommending it to all my friends, and two of them, are sending to you for their lessons."

From many Pupils whose testimony can all be rolled into one: "When reading your advertisement I could scarcely believe that any system could achieve what was there stated. But on studying your first lesson I realised that at last a system had been discovered which would help persons who formerly held the idea that to play the piano was utterly beyond them. Naunton's National Music System is splendid. It is the acme of simplicity, and is as perfect as it is simple."

MAKE Your SKIN More BEAUTIFUL.

AN attractive appearance wins admiration. In social life and in business the lady whose face and hands show evidence of constant care enjoys an advantage over the woman who does not realise the value of a healthy skin and spotless complexion.

It is justifiable, then, for every woman to enlist the aid of Ven-Yusa, the new oxygen "Wonder-Cream," to render herself more attractive and her skin more beautiful.

Ven-Yusa has a distinct and definite mission as part of a lady's toilet. It is not merely a response to vanity, and it is a good deal more than a mask for spots and blemishes.

By means of its natural Oxygen properties, Ven-Yusa exercises a real vitalising and purifying action on the skin, and preserves the soft, healthy bloom of Nature in a conspicuous way.

The benefit from Ven-Yusa is felt in the skin as well as on it. The pores are made to "breathe" properly, thus preventing blackheads and rashiness, and the face, hands, neck and arms are most efficiently protected from the damaging effect of weather, worry and war-strain.

Ven-Yusa represents the highest degree of purity and refinement. The result of using it regularly is a continual feeling of freshness and beautiful softness which every lady covets.

"CELESTIAL MILITARISM."

THOSE who walk or stumble home after work at twilight, in these darkened days, have lately had for consolation the vision of a celestial colloquy—the Moon, Jupiter and Venus being at what seems conversational distance. There, in a clear sky, glisten the three—in what conference concerning our position? For indeed as they glimmer there, it is impossible to earthly concentric egoism not to suppose that they look upon us with benignant intention, or the reverse.

So fair and kind looks Venus that we cannot resist imagining that she appears for a signal, cold moon at her service, ardent Jupiter waiting upon her—for she shines now as may have shone upon Dante that star he saw when he emerged with tear-stained face from Hell, on to the mountain of Purgatory. Only we are still in our Inferno.

This fair female planet used to be considered a place of mountains and waters, though no doubt the latest astronomy has changed all that. Jupiter was, on the other hand, a creature of heat. And the Moon has chilled her heart until she has faded almost to death. The three propose, then, to use these their gifts and defects for our guidance. The beautiful lady will cover us with healing waters—suppress us with another flood. "But they've had one," suggests Jupiter, "and it did them no good whatever. Why not now at last give them that fire of which their prophets speak?" "Better," adds the Moon, "to chi'l them of their breatheable air and to reduce them to fossils clinging about the husk of their withered globe. Anyhow, suppress them! It's the quickest, the most merciful way out."

So we overheard these celestials, last night.

At the same time, in Berlin, we have reason to know that our former friend Professor Wildheit von Schlachordnung was contemplating the silvery speakers.

He is engaged upon a book proving the eternity, the eternal necessity, of war. How eternal? Will not Prussia one day, then, have conquered the globe? Surely, when everybody's dead but the Prussians, we shall have the German peace for ever?

Vile thought!
The Professor lifts his head. He beholds, in those impertinent planets, a possibility. How dare they revolve thus out of the orbit of the Wilhelmstrasse? Let them beware! Let them arm in time. With our new aircraft of the millionth century. He sits down at his desk and begins the last chapter on "Celestial Militarism" (Himmelmilitarismus). And he shows to his fellow-countrymen that "our future is in the sky." We leave him writing on.

Will Venus, Jupiter and the Moon be in time to suppress Herr Professor Geheimrath Wildheit von Schlachordnung? Or will he get control of them?

Well, we have given them their warning.
W. M.

LOVE AMONG THE RUINS.

Save us, dear lord; for, lo, our house is waste
With what long strain of inexpressible woe
Her pure and lightsome chambers are defaced:
Thro'd cankers in her goodly gardens blow:
And the fair carven chapter lieth low.
Frida, sweetness, splendour, all delights of life,
Have vanished in the one grim sickening strife.
Yet save us, lord! for should thy feet still fall
Upon the broken pavement, flowers would spring:
Should thy voice through the midday darkness call,
Music would wake and wave her very wing:
Shouldst thou but smile, we once again might sing,
And, though we may not build, at least no more
Break what remains of this thy house of yore.
—JOHN ADDINGTON SYMONDS (1840-1903).

WHAT THE SPANIARDS THINK OF THE WAR.

SAYINGS OF MEN WHO MATTER IN MODERN CULTURE.

By ARTHUR SYMONS.

MUCH has been said about the "pro-Germanism" of Spain during the war. Before giving the written thoughts of certain famous Spanish writers in regard to the whole question, I quote these words pronounced by the Kaiser in 1905:—

"If it ever happens that history speaks of a world-wide Empire and of the universal domination of the Hohenzollerns, this Empire or this domination shall have been founded by the sword, and shall repose on a reciprocal understanding between all the nations that follow the same end. In a word, as a great poet said, it will be limited without, unlimited within."

So far the saying of the Kaiser; now for the ideas of the Spaniards.
Pío Baroja states: "I believe that if any country can definitely overthrow the Catholic of humanity demand the victory of the Allied Powers; that we are in heart and in mind with France and with England."

Of more importance than this is the manifesto signed by the most famous Spaniards: men of letters, poets, dramatists, painters, men of science.
Among these was Azorin, the head of the Republican Party, and Ramon del Valle Inclan, the fiery Carlist. "As Spaniards and as men," they said, "we, the Spanish people, must not show ourselves as 'a people without pity,'"

"THE GERMAN NIGHTMARE."

They added that all of them were "on the side of the Allies so far as they represent the ideals of justice, the only ones that can coincide with the deepest political interests of the nation. Our conscience reproves, wherever we see them manifested, these actions that degrade human dignity and the respect that men have for themselves, even in the thickest of the fight."

Ruiz declares his unshakable faith in the triumph of France—that glorious land that has produced Molière, Chénier and Flaubert. Perez Galdos, a partisan of the Latin races, says that

MANNERS FOR CHILDREN: THE TEA PARTY.

Quite usual if not absolutely correct behaviour of the average child host who has invited friends to tea—neglect them utterly and then get into a lovely scrape and be forcibly removed.—(By Mr. W. K. Haselden.)

Church it is Germany." Jose Martinez Ruiz examined, without pity, several pages of a Spanish diplomat of the seventeenth century, Saavedra Fajardo, where the cruelties committed by the Germans during the war of thirty years ago are recounted in detail, forming a picture worthy of being compared with that of the atrocities committed in 1914 by the German soldiers.

Santiago Ramon y Cajal, a professor in Madrid, wrote in the review "España": "Our ancestors in the caverns pillaged and assassinated naturally enough, without tormenting their victims with the aid of anthropological theories; today the aggressors, when they feel themselves strong enough, will write learned books full of high philosophy, not only to justify their crimes and their iniquities, but also to present themselves to the world as a superior race to which all is permitted."

Soon after the beginning of the war the Catalans declared their conviction that "in the actual war the supreme interests of justice and England has made herself loved by the nations she has conquered; that his one desire is that this war shall deliver us from the German nightmare."

But it is Alcala Galiana who speaks the final words on this subject: "To believe," he writes, "that Germany experiences sympathy for us, that the Kaiser is grateful to us, that he has a certain interest in gratifying Spain: these are such chimeras as could only have been fashioned by inferior intellects, who seem to await the Kaiser's triumphs as the children awaited the coming of the Three Magi."

So much, then, for the "pro-Germanism" of intellectual Spain!

A THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY.

A man is a passing mood coming and going in the mind of his country; he is the twitching of a nerve, a smile, a frown, a thought of shame or honour, as it may happen.—Samuel Butler.

WARNING WANTED.

ZEPPELIN PROBLEMS DISCUSSED BY SOME OF OUR READERS.

ONE THING AT LEAST.

IS there not one thing at least perfectly clear about the Zeppelin business—namely, that the theatres should be warned when a raid is in prospect?

It is really incredible negligence and folly on the part of the authorities to risk the fall of a bomb on any one of the theatres of London while the audience is in it. It would at least be easy to get the theatres emptied.

The indignation in London will be very great if any further risks are taken in this matter. Wimbledon. A. M.

WITH A RIFLE?

I DON'T know if people in the mass are aware of how very low the Zeppelins fly when they drop their bombs. I am convinced that at a certain seaside town during the last raid one could have shot one of these fine fellows with a rifle.

Presumably there was not a rifle in the town!

But even if there had been one I do not for a moment suppose that any man would have been allowed to use it. Had he done so he would have been punished severely. "Don't shoot until orders are given" seems to be our rule, and orders never are given—till too late. H. K. L. East Coast.

"THE END OF THE WORLD."

MR. MEYER should know well enough, in the first place, that the Scriptures know nothing of the various "ages" of which he speaks, but only of two—this present evil age" and "the age to come."

He also should know that, however "the Churches," or what he calls "religion," may or may not do by way of "adapting" themselves to the world, the flesh and the devil, whether now or after the war, Jesus Christ remains the same yesterday, to-day, and for ever, and never "adapts Himself" to anything or anybody.

And when the end of this age, which I agree is now close at hand, does come, Jesus Christ shall appear not to accommodate or "adapt" Himself to the present systems of men, religious or secular, but to sweep them all away, in that day known to the early Church as "Dies iræ, dies illa." Then, indeed, when hypocrites and oppressors and shamers have been smashed for ever by His almighty hand, we shall see "Peace on earth, goodwill among men, and glory to God in the highest places"—not before. A. E. CLARKE.

"JUSTICE?"

SPEAKING against reprisals last week, Lord Bryce stated that "We stand in this war for justice, right and humanity; from that position we must not depart."

I take it, then, that Lord Bryce thinks it is justice, to our people, for the Germans to come over here and kill a lot of innocent women and children with their gasbags without retaliation.

The statue of Justice balanced, and not on a pedestal, as Sir Joseph Ward says. "It is time the British dropped sentiment and gave the Germans bombs for bomb." (Miss D. BOSANK.)

IN MY GARDEN.

FEB. 7.—Shrubs and trees may be planted this month when the weather is favourable and the soil is in a suitable condition. Strange to say, the hardy azaleas are seen in but few gardens, although they are quite easy to grow and their brilliant colours produce quite an Oriental effect.

Let them, if possible, be grown in masses; they need a sunny situation and light, loamy soil or peat.

The pontica (Ghent azaleas) varieties—including the "old fragrant yellow"—and the Japanese sorts (mollis) are all splendid subjects.

In cases of feeble or disordered digestion, whether arising from severe or temporary illness or advancing age, it is of vital importance that the food taken should provide adequate nutriment, with no tax upon the impaired digestion. The ideal food for this purpose is

OVALTINE

TONIC FOOD BEVERAGE

Ovaltine is super-nourishment. It abundantly supplies the system with all the nourishment required, at the same time being easily assimilated and completely absorbed. Invalids seldom tire of its delicious and appetising flavour. Ovaltine is especially valuable in old age, when bodily activities are restricted and the powers of assimilation weakened.

Taken last thing at night, Ovaltine promotes quiet refreshing sleep.

Your Medical Adviser will confirm this.

The Food Value of OVALTINE.

The value of all foods for giving muscular strength and nervous energy is judged by their Caloric values, the Calorie being the adopted scientific standard.

The following comparison by an eminent physician and medical author proves the supreme food value of Ovaltine.

MANCHESTER—The Palatine, Victoria St.

Mr. W. A. Mount, M.P.

TO-DAY'S GOSSIP

Congratulations.

I hear that Mr. W. A. Mount, M.P., has been the recipient of a good many congratulations on his selection for the position of Civil member of the Claims Commission in France in succession to Mr. J. A. Pease, M.P., the new Postmaster-General. I have known Mr. Mount for many years, and although he has never been a conspicuous figure on the floor of the House, can testify to the fact that he has done a lot of good work behind the political scenes, as parliamentary private secretary both to Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and Mr. Ritchie.

War Stamps.

All sorts of Budget stories are going round, but I'm told that the introduction of war stamps is a great probability. Canada has been sticking war stamps on its letters for a long time, and I believe Mr. McKenna intends us to do the same. It is also likely that he will revive some of the postal changes that were squashed some time ago.

More Air Gossip.

You remember how a few months ago Major Winston Churchill's name was coupled with the post of Air Minister. Well, it dropped through then. Club gossips, however, are busy with the same theme again. Whoever takes up the job, the reopening of Parliament will, I'm told, see a strong agitation for the creation of the Ministry.

Mr. Lloyd George's "Short Cut."

I am interested to hear that Mr. Lloyd George is to use the Whitehall-place entrance to his immense Hotel Metropole offices. The Munitions Minister knows the value of minutes as well as a number of people I know who for years, unostentatiously, have used the quiet little corridor connecting the two entrances of the hotel as a "short cut" into the Whitehall area. Most of them are members of the National Liberal, right opposite.

Lady Pears.

I hear that Sir Edwin Pears's wife is still in Constantinople looking after her house there, which she is afraid to leave lest it be looted.

A Lady of Letters.

That interesting and delightful musician, Mrs. Alicia Adelinde Needham, was telling some richly-amusing Irish stories at Mme. Olga de Nevosky's musical party the other afternoon. Mrs. Needham was wearing her Red Cross nurse's uniform, and told me she hoped to get out to France to do some hospital work very shortly. Of course, her contribution to Mme. de Nevosky's admirable programme did not stop at story-telling, for she played the accompaniment to some of her own songs, which Miss Bessie Marks sang delightfully.

Many Honours.

Mrs. Needham, by the way, carries more letters after her name than most women. Her "styles and titles" include A.R.A.M., A.R.C.M. and L.R.C.M. Then she is "Ovate Bardess of the Welsh Gorsedd" and first lady president of the Eisteddfod, as well as a lot of other distinguished things. And yet she remains a charming, unaffected Irishwoman with a fine hearty way with her and a personality that tells of good health and good humour.

Mrs. Alicia Needham.

Wants To Be a Sailor.

I hear that Prince John is getting to be a very manly lad, although he is not ten yet. Like all his brothers, the Prince is very keen on things mechanical, especially model ships. His one passion is to go to sea, and I should not be surprised if he is allowed to have his wish.

A "Loch" Heir.

There is rejoicing at 51, Lennox-gardens, on the birth of a son and heir to Lord and Lady Loch, who have already two little girls aged respectively ten and eight years. The second Lord Loch, who has been Lord-in-Waiting to his Majesty, is now a Brigadier-General on the General Staff. His wife is the sister of the Marquis of Northampton, and in addition to her names Margaret and Louisa she was christened "Lizzie."

Are You a Ke-Bin?

The nation that is too proud to fight is just proud enough to be interested in its new title invented by Mr. Marvin Faudzick. With ears tuned to the musical name of his native city, Kalamazoo, Mr. Faudzick considers America a harsh name, and has started a movement to call the States Ke-Bur, their inhabitants Ke-Bins and their curious language Ke-Bish.

Glowing Ke-Bish.

Which has so wrought upon the Beards-ton Illinoian Star that that paper rises to wish Mr. Faudzick success with the best Ke-Bish in its command. Here's to the first Ke-Bin of Kalamazoo, Ke-Bur!

"The Joan Danvers."

After a successful debut in Manchester a few weeks since Captain Frank Statton's play, "The Joan Danvers," came to town at the Duke of York's last night. Miss Evelyn Miss Evelyn Hope.

Hope, whom I remember for her pretty acting in "Hindle Wakes" last autumn, played Joan, not the Joan of the title, for that refers to a vessel, still Joan Danvers, and very well she played it, too.

London Skylarks Return.

That it is a very early spring is proved by the return of the pair of skylarks who spend their summer nearest to the heart of London. The male bird was singing yesterday above the West Norwood field which they have made their summer home for some years. His reappearance is ten days earlier than last year.

Cosmopolitan.

Mr. Walter Winans, the American millionaire, was a very interested onlooker at the parade of fashions at the Carlton the other night, but he took no part in the ball that followed. It was a cosmopolitan gathering, Lady Crewe bringing one party and Miss Lorna Della, the beautiful, dark-eyed Argentine lady from the Queen's, another. Miss Fay Compton looked really delicious in a parrot-like green pannered gown and powdered hair. She and Miss Madge Saunders busied themselves in selling mimosa branches at fabulous prices in aid of "Le Berceau," on whose behalf the affair was got up.

Morry Von Pohl.

If the Appam affair was designed in Berlin the credit is due to Admiral von Pohl, the Chief of the German Admiralty Staff. He is known in Berlin for a smile that never comes off. Always ready for a joke or anything surprising—excepting, say, ordering the German fleet out of Kiel.

Two Scientists.

That well-known Irish scientist Sir William Barrett, F.R.S., is to be married shortly, I see, to Dr. Florence Willey, one of the cleverest of London's women doctors. Sir William, who was for many years Professor of Physics at the Dublin College of Science, is in his seventy-second year, and I think he must be able to claim the unique distinction of being a famous scientist who believes in "dowsing," the finding of hidden water by means of a hazel twig.

Helped by His Wife.

A girl I was talking to yesterday tells me that the rise of Sir Maurice Alers Hankey to fame is in part due to the help of his wife. Herself the daughter of a Surveyor-General of the Cape Colony, and an important official, she realised the value of solid work at the beginning of a man's career. When they were stationed at Malta she forsook all balls and gaieties, and devoted herself to a course of study at night (with her husband's help) on coast defence, the subject which Sir Maurice has made so completely his own.

Prince Louis of Bannockburn.

An elderly Scot was relating some of his experiences in the Navy in days gone by to some young fellow-countrymen in khaki. Wishing to impress the boys with the length of his service he exclaimed, "I was in the Navy before Prince Louis of Bannockburn was born."

Mr. A. F. Wilding's Life.

Mr. Anthony Wilding's life is shortly to appear, and, as it is written by Mr. A. W. Myers, it should make a strong appeal to tennis players and sportsmen in general, for Mr. Wilding was a sportsman in the best sense of the term.

Slangy "Tino."

"I have been hearing of 'Tino' of Greece from a famous newspaper correspondent. I learn that his Majesty's English is perfect, but invariably as slangy as he can make it.

Twenty-five Greek Victories.

My friend admired a polished shell case on a writing table. The King asked if he knew what it was. On hearing the correct answer, the King said: "If I give it what would you do with it?" "Engrave it with the names of Greek victories over the Turk," came the pat reply. "I will write them out for you," said "Tino," and forthwith compiled a list of twenty-five Greek victories!

Her Regard.

"Of course, Austria has regard for humanity," writes an American scribe, "she regards it as a fine torpedo target."

Mme. Karina.

There is to be a big reception on Sunday afternoon at Mme. Karina's new studio, and on the following Wednesday and Thursday special matinees will be held under the personal patronage of Queen Alexandra. Mme. Karina is a charming Dane; her father, Mr. Sophus Lindell, she told me the other day, had been sculptor to Queen Alexandra's father, the late King Christian, and to her brother, King Frederik, who succeeded him; while her nephew has just been honoured by the present King Christian of Denmark, who made him a Dannebrog Knight.

Mme. Karina.

THE RAMBLER.

Sir W. Barrett.

Mother who nurse their Babies

How often it happens that a mother is obliged to wean her baby after only a short period of nursing. The reason may be that she is not taking sufficient nourishing food herself. The qualities which make Savory & Moore's Food so good for infants are precisely those needed to sustain the mother herself, and she will find that its daily use will increase her own supply of milk, and enable her to continue nursing her baby with entire satisfaction. The following testimony should be of interest.

"Up to a month old my baby was very thin and slept little, not having sufficient nourishment from me. Having read in your book that Savory & Moore's Food increased the flow of milk in nursing mothers, I tried it, with the result that I am now able to nurse my baby entirely. I tried stout and other drinks, which did not agree with me, but I am pleased to say your food has done me a great deal of good."

"I have found your food most useful for myself. I hardly think that your advertisement does justice to its great value for mothers."

"When our baby was born I was afraid my wife would be unable to suckle the child, but your food, after the first trial, put all our anxiety aside, as she then had abundance of milk. The baby is in splendid condition, both in health and looks."

"Let me tell you how satisfactory I have found it as a help to nursing. I always have some myself before going to bed, and much prefer it to any other kind of gruel."

For the convenience of those who have not yet tried their Food, Messrs. Savory & Moore are making a special offer of FREE TRIAL TIN, which will be sent on receipt of the Coupon below with 2d. in stamps for postage. This tin is not a mere sample, but contains sufficient food for a thorough trial. Send at once.

SHOT ON FOOTPATH.

Southgate Woman Claims Damages
Against a London Scoutmaster.

BULLET IN THE FACE.

Claiming that she was injured by a bullet fired by a boy scout, Mrs. Edith Barker, of Southgate, claimed damages yesterday in Mr. Justice Shearman's court for personal injuries.

She sued Mr. J. F. Wright, a scoutmaster, of Palmers Green, under whose direction, she says, the rifle was fired. Defendant denied that he or any of the scouts were guilty of negligence. He also denied that he employed a boy scout to discharge firearms across the footpath.

Mr. Lewis Thomas, K.C., for the plaintiff, stated that Mrs. Barker was walking along, a footpath at Southgate, when she was suddenly struck in the face by a bullet.

The defendant was in charge of the 153rd North London Scouts, and he had a troop of boy scouts in a field near the footpath.

He had acquired a Belgian rifle, and by his orders a target was erected in a field.

After the accident Mrs. Barker had to keep in her house for a month, and a doctor performed an operation to remove the bullet.

A policeman named Lloyd stated that after the accident he saw defendant, who had a rifle in his hand. He stated that the boy scouts had been firing at a piece of paper on the island of a pond.

Mr. R. Churchill, a gunsmith, said that he had examined the bullet taken from plaintiff's cheek. The marks on the bullet corresponded with the marks on the barrel. The danger area of the rifle was 700 yards. It was a ricochet bullet.

Mr. Hawke, for the defence, said the shooting by the scouts had not started at the time plaintiff stated she was passing along the footpath.

Defendant said there was other shooting in the neighbourhood.

The hearing was adjourned.

HOW ROYAL EXAMPLE HELPED.

The exhibition of small works by British sculptors, held in Messrs. Waring and Gills's Georgian Hall, has proved successful.

For this success the committee were indebted to the Queen, who consented to attend the opening, and who afterwards evinced her interest and sympathy by making numerous purchases. Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria also visited the exhibition, and purchased works.

Their Majesties' example was followed by many distinguished patrons and lovers of art. The exhibits numbered 192, and 138 were sold. A pleasing result of the exhibition is that the fund for the relief of distressed sculptors will benefit materially.

BACK FROM HUNLAND.

Englishwoman Tells "Why Kaiser Stopped Air Raids on London."

The Flushing to Tilbury boat yesterday brought 104 soldiers who have been exchanged for German soldiers.

Eighteen civilians also arrived from Ruhleben and fifty women who have been expelled from Berlin.

The latter told some interesting stories of the conditions in that city.

Food they said was getting scarce. Fat was almost impossible to obtain, while butter was only sold once a week. Purchasers stood outside the shops to purchase it.

Miss Stansfield, of London, who had been a student at Berlin for three years, gave her story to a Press representative.

"I have never seen an English newspaper since the war commenced," she said, "and the news I was told as to how things were going in England made me very depressed."

"I was told that you were starving, and on the verge of bankruptcy."

"They told me that Zeppelins had been to London several times, but the Kaiser had stopped the practice because he did not approve of women and children being murdered by bombs."

It was also stated that he put an end to the German submarine menace to British shipping for the same reason.

Miss Grocock, who was on her way to friends in Oakham, Rutland, and who had been in Berlin for fourteen years, expressed much regret in having to leave her many friends as well as her nursing home.

"Foodstuffs are dear in Berlin," she said, "especially butter, which has fetched as much as 3s. 6d. per lb. At present it is about 2s. 10d. per lb., but there are times when all the money in the world would not buy it."

"Not long ago I paid 1s. 2d. for a pound of rice."

The latest requisitions by the authorities apply to nickel, brass and copper goods. They gave a very fair price for everything taken, especially for copper kettles.

"The Germans are very proud of their Zeppelins, and expect to do great things with them."

"They were very sore about the L19, which was lost in the North Sea."

"The paper I used to have every morning gave the amount of money in the Bank of England," she continued, "and each day the amount given grew less and less."

"Frequent comments are made of 'darkened London, which can always be found by means of the Thames.'"

"There is no lighting order in Berlin, which is considered immune from air raids."

MOUTH ORGANS FOR THE FRONT.

A fund for the provision of mouth organs to our soldiers at the front was started about a year ago by the Musical News. A sum of £572 18s. 2d. has been collected, and over 12,000 of these handy little instruments have been sent out to the various battlefields and the Navy.

HOW TO INCREASE YOUR STRENGTH.

Some Good Advice By a Specialist.

If you are losing strength, tire easily, lack ambition and confidence, do things from your discouraged, it does not matter whether the cause is from illness, late hours, drinking, smoking or over-indulgence of any kind, you are in danger of suffering a complete break down unless proper treatment is secured at once.

Strength can only be obtained from the food you eat. Therefore, if you are using up more energy each day than you obtain from your food, your case is hopeless until you can reverse the order of things and increase your strength in proportion to the amount you draw upon it.

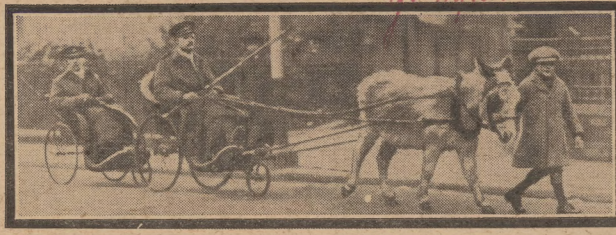

To get back your old-time strength and energy spend as much time as possible in the open air, breathe deeply and get a little Sargol from Boots or any other good Chemist, and take one tablet with each meal. You will simply be astonished to see how quickly your strength will return to you. Stomach troubles will vanish, ambition return, and you will feel a keen desire again for both work and pleasure. Sargol has increased strength and nerve power in many cases more than 300 per cent. In fact, a little Sargol with three meals a day will give you more strength and energy than twelve meals would give you without it. Therefore, if you are run down, are constantly losing strength, are irritable, or your nerves are off, get a 3s. box of Sargol to-day. It will last you over a week, and will do you more good than a month at the seaside. (Advt.)

Why Suffer from a Chest Cold?

You can get rid of it so easily. By using Chameleon Oil you gain immediate relief, and soon all soreness entirely disappears. No need to rub till your skin becomes sore, for when you apply Chameleon Oil, gently does it. Goes straight to the exact spot where the trouble is and drives it away. There's nothing in the world a quarter as good. No home should be without a bottle. There's hardly a day it is not required for one purpose or another. It removes aches and pains like magic. The best gift for your soldier friend in the trenches.

Chameleon Oil

All horse, dog, and cattle owners should use Veterinary Chameleon Oil (Price 3s. and 4s. 3d.), which cures lameness and disease. No other known preparation will do this.

ANIMALS IN WAR.

Horses Deliver a Load of Bombs Without a Driver.

THE HOSPITAL DOG.

An interesting anecdote is told about a dog that lives at the military hospital at Dieppe maintained by the Wounded Allies' Relief Committee, of Sardinia House, Kingsway, W.C. The hospital was formerly the Hotel de l'Alliance, and the dog, which is rather old, belongs to the former proprietor of the hotel, but has become so attached to the soldier patients that he refuses to return to his former master.

At the words, "The wounded are coming," the animal leaps into the front seat of the motor-ambulance ready to be dispatched to the railway station to fetch the wounded, jumps down on reaching the patients, caresses them, and is on the front seat again as the ambulance returns to the hospital.

A Hampstead correspondent of the Speciator narrates the following incident, copied from the letters of an R.E. officer in Flanders:—

"A curious thing happened the other night. A wagon full of bombs was expected at our dump. Eventually it appeared coming along the road. My sergeant shouted out directions to the wagon. 'Turn to the right, now to the left, now stop,' all of which it did. When the men went up to it there was no driver; he had got off some way back when the wagon was shelled, and turned up later. The horses had carried out directions on their own."

YESTERDAY'S BOXING.

At the Barnley featherweight, outclassed Joe Stanner and knocked him out in the third round. Ben Stevenson (also of Barnley), a coming middle-weight, knocked out Edgar Conway, of Merthyr, in the third round.

After a capital contest the fifteen rounds match between Young Brooks and Fred Housego at the Ring yesterday afternoon ended in a draw. In another fifteen rounds Bill Ranger beat Harry Brooks on points. The contest between Nat Brooks and Fred Anderson was stopped in the fourth round in favour of Brooks.

Henri Tyncke was very fortunate to be awarded a draw in his twenty rounds contest with Sid Burns in the evening. Burns did the winning in the first round, and although Tyncke improved he was sent to the boards by a fine right swing in the last round, a draw in ten rounds lost, between Ricker Keys and Bill Bristow, was extremely popular.

At Hoxton Joe Goodwin continued his run of successes by beating George Matthews in the seventh round. Goodwin will now meet Jimmy Wilde after the Welshman's belt match with Young Symonds.

Bob Cotton, the ex-ambler, gained another victory at New Cross last night, when he caused George Hatto to retire in the fifteenth round.

stood. He was panic-stricken, as the African so-called had been panic-stricken. But Dick! She could not have explained it to herself, but she realised that in those few moments a new revelation of Dick's character had been vouchsafed to her.

Just a glimpse of his bigness. She could not have explained it in any other words.

Another man would have been so filled with contempt for Rupert's weakness. But Dick! She had surprised a look in those blue eyes—a look so full of pitying tenderness that it had amazed her.

Dick was big—big enough even to forgive her and understand her—even if he knew the truth. An impulse rushed over her, compelling. Should she to-night, here on the threshold of their new life, before it was too late—while he still loved her with all the glamour of love, tell him the truth?

There will be another fine instalment tomorrow.

ADMIRAL WARNS THE NATION.

"As a nation we have to face our failure to deal with the drink traffic which is still hampering our efficiency," declared Admiral Sir G. F. King-Hall, presiding yesterday at the Day of United Intercession arranged by the World's Evangelical Alliance at Queen's Hall.

"It is no use for the Home Secretary and the Government to urge economy," said the Admiral, "and yet shrink from speaking out freely to the nation and telling them that they should follow the example of the King. Every one of our rulers and all the clergy should follow that example."

"Let us turn as a nation to God, sweeping away all these national faults and all this so-called higher criticism of the Bible which is undermining the faith of the nations and has, to a great extent, brought about this world catastrophe."

BOGUS V.C. HERO FINED £50.

Lieutenant Charles Morton, of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, pleaded guilty yesterday at Salisbury to charges of wearing the Victoria Cross decoration without authority and of wearing the uniform of a Lieutenant-colonel.

Other charges against him were of obtaining £10 by fraud from Lloyds Bank and of attempting to obtain £5 from the London City and Midland Bank. It was stated that he was wanted by the police in other places on charges of obtaining money by means of worthless cheques.

Morton was fined £50 for wearing a false uniform and decoration, and was committed for trial on charges of false pretences.
